UW-River Falls Atop Preseason Poll

Saint Paul, Minn. (October 28, 2009) – The Northern Collegiate Hockey Association women's coaches have selected UW-River Falls as the preseason favorite to win the now nine-team conference in 2009-10. The Falcons, who won the regular season and playoff titles last year, received six of the possible nine first-place votes.

UW-River Falls, no doubt, is worthy of being tabbed the preseason favorite. The Falcons return 17 of 19 players from last year's roster, including three All-NCHA award winners. And both Melissa Deardorff (Anchorage, AK) and Cassi Campbell (Anchorage, AK), last year's regulars in goal, return to a team which averaged under two goals against per game last season.

Just behind UW-River Falls was UW-Superior, which grabbed two first-place votes. The Yellowjackets bring back one of the NCHA's most dominant forwards in Jodi Holland (Rochester, MN), who led the league in goals last year with 19.

Newcomer Adrian College of Michigan was ranked third in its NCHA poll debut, one slot ahead of UW-Stevens Point. The Bulldogs posted an 18-6-1 record last year while going 10-3-1 in games against the NCHA.

UW-Eau Claire, Lake Forest and Concordia-Wisconsin took the five-six-seven spots, respectively. Finlandia was voted eighth and Marian, playing its inaugural season of varsity hockey, was ninth.

The 10th season of play in the NCHA Women's Division starts Friday, October 30th when Adrian, UW-Stevens Point and UW-Eau Claire take to the ice in non-conference action.

Celebrating 10 Years of Women's Hockey

Since its inception on April 10, 2000, the NCHA Women's Division has been a leader in the growth of women's hockey, establishing tradition, a competitive environment and a unique experience for student-athletes. Throughout this season we'll look back at some of the people who've made the Women's Division one of the most dominant and special conferences in all of college hockey.
